LEASES QUARRY FOR HIGHWAYS

Commissioner Greene and Aaron Cohen Make Deal Whereby New Stone Crusher for Roads Will be Located on Fair Grounds Property—Plant Now Here.

The Kingston Fair Grounds Association, Inc., has leased to the state of New York, department of highways, the stone quarry on the Owen Cassidy property on Hurley avenue, which was recently purchased by the Fair Grounds Association, and by May first a force of men will be employed there crushing stone to be used in the maintenance of the highways in this vicinity. Aaron Cohen, as president of the Fair Grounds Association, and Major Frederick Stuart Greene, highway commissioner of the state, signed the lease today.

The location of this crushing plant in Kingston will bring considerable business to the town as it is expected that 25 men will be employed, many of them skilled men. Although the lease signed today was for one year it is expected that once the plant is located here it will be permanent as the high quality of the quarry and the high quality of the crushed rock makes it very desirable. The crushed rock will be carted by motor trucks for use on the seven routes in this vicinity. In the past the rock used in repairing the highways was imported from some other section by boat or train.

Charles E. Seib, state maintenance officer here, stated this morning that the entire plant had been shipped and was in Kingston. The big 50 ton bin is being constructed here by the Universal Road Machinery Company and will be ready for installation very shortly. By May first the plant will be in operation and work on the construction will be started next week.

After the rock is crushed it will be carted to the various highway repair jobs by six motor trucks which were turned over to the highway department by the government after the war. The highway department selected this quarry on account of its location and on account of the high quality of the rock, said Mr. Seib.

The plant will be operated by steam at first and if it is decided to remain here permanently the plant will be changed to be operated by electricity.

STREET FORCE IS KEPT BUSY

The work of tearing up and relaying the brick pavement on Broadway is proceeding rapidly. The brick has been torn up as far as Brewster street, and the work of relaying it is moving along in good shape. The brick is taken up and laid flat and as a result there are considerable brick left over. Those bricks are being carted to the labor camp on Delaware avenue where they are being stored.

Superintendent Van Keuren stated this morning that the work of building the fence for the deer in Forsyth Park would be completed by Tuesday. As soon as the fence is completed it is expected that the deer will be brought to Kingston and placed in the enclosure.

The weather is not favorable for additional street work as yet, but as soon as conditions warrant it the street force will start in the usual work of repairs and rebuilding streets. At present a force of men are busy building the retaining wall on Abel street. This and the Broadway pavement are the only two street projects now under way.

Ambulance Calls Thursday.

Thomas Ducas was removed from 20 Elm Place to the Kingston City Hospital in the ambulance that day.

Sanctuary Didn't Strike.

The Freeman in its story of the "outlet" strike which struck Kingston Tuesday night and was settled Wednesday night, stated that the railway men on the three switching engines had struck with the other yard men on the West Shore yards. It was official of the engineers who thought that this was an error, that the engineers were on duty and were unable to move their engines. There were no engineers or other members of the union working.

FEDERALS BEAT SONORA REBELS

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Mexico City, April 16.—Federal troops under General Iribide, have defeated a detachment of Sonora revolutionary troops south of Navajo, according to a dispatch received here today.

The capital continues quiet with the public apparently passive regarding Sonora developments. Government officials expressed the opinion that quiet would be restored in Sonora within a few weeks.

No efforts are being made to locate General Alvaro Obregon, a presidential candidate, and General Benjamin Hill, who left this city and were later reported on their way to Sonora.

STUDENTS TO AID ARMENIAN FUND

At this morning's assembly at the High School, James A. Lavery, publicity director for the Near East Relief Campaign, drew such a vivid word picture of conditions in Armenia that the sympathies of the students were keenly aroused. Mr. Lavery called attention to the fact that if each scholar in the city gave but the price of one loaf of bread $500 or $600 would be secured which could do immeasurable good in a land where each child not taken care of by outside aid is living on half an ounce of rice or a few crusts of black bread a day, and has for months had even less at times.

Peculiarly fitting and appropriate, said Mr. Lavery, in their appeal to every Christian in the world for aid for the cradle of Christianity were King Solomon's prayer at the dedication of the temple, which he quoted and the Lord's prayer. "Give us this day our daily bread" etc.

The students evinced much interest in Mr. Lavery's appeal and after some discussion evolved a plan by which each class room is to take up separately the form of its plan for raising funds for Near East Relief.

Director Lavery also addressed a meeting of the principals of the city schools on April 14. The executive committee and Chairman Fessenden feel entirely confident that if every worker will complete his card quota and visit those not yet seen the city will undoubtedly fulfill the expectations of those who fixed the quota.

The campaign closes Wednesday evening with dinner at the Y. M. C. A. for the workers.

All the money secured here will go directly for the relief of the starving and oppressed as the entire expenses of collecting it, including the dinners tendered the workers are paid by individuals who have provided the funds for the organization.

HAS LEBLOIS GOT MILLENS' $100?

That is Question That Will Be Settled in Police Court—Mr. Milles Swears Out Warrant For Leblois On Charge of Grand Larceny in Second Degree.

City Judge Schrick has issued a warrant on the complaint of Barney Milles of No. 41 Meadow street, who alleges that Abe Leblois was guilty of grand larceny in the second degree in obtaining $100 from Mr. Milles under false pretences. According to Mr. Milles' complaint Mr. Leblois stated to Mr. Milles that he could purchase some copper junk at Hillside, Columbia county, if Mr. Milles telegraphed him the $100. Mr. Milles claimed he sent the money. As he had neither received the copper junk nor his $100 back he decided to have Mr. Leblois arrested charging Leblois with obtaining the money with intent to defraud him. The case will be heard later in police court.

REPORT OF DIST. CONFERENCE P.T.A.

Benefits of Poughkeepsie Fresh Air School Explained—Prominent Speakers at Saugerties and Their Topics—To Meet Next Year in Poughkeepsie.

The annual district spring conference for the Mothers' Clubs and Parent-Teachers' Association of the counties of Ulster, Orange and Dutchess, was held in the Reformed Church chapel at Saugerties on Wednesday, April 14, with Mrs. George B. Snyder as leader.

The morning session opened at 10 o'clock with prayer by Rev. Josephine Richards, wife of the pastor of the Saugerties Congregational Church, and a vocal solo by Mrs. William Mayham.

The annual reports of the various associations followed. The most novel and striking work reported by any of the clubs was that being tried out by the Poughkeepsie Association, of which the state president, Mrs. W. A. Saltford, is a member. This association has persuaded the board of education to set apart a room on the third floor of their grammar school as a fresh air school for delicate, undernourished and underweight children from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades. The room contains eight windows which are lowered from the top all the time, extra heat being supplied and the children being allowed to keep their hats and coats on. In the middle of the forenoon a glass of milk, a cup of hot cocoa is served the children, and at noon a nourishing lunch, consisting of meat balls, mashed potatoes, bread and butter, cocoa and fruit, after which the children lie down on cots for three-quarters of an hour. Nearly all of them take a nap. No lunch is served at the afternoon session. After the first two weeks the children were weighed and measured. All but three Italian boys were gained. One little Italian boy was upon an errand to his former teacher and his face was rounded out and he looked so different, the teacher did not recognize him. The pupils are making much better progress in their studies. In fact, this is being tried out to prove to the parents what fresh air and proper nourishment will do for the children. The club reports were followed by a round table conference, conducted by Mrs. Saltford, at which novel features of the club reports were discussed.

At 12:30 luncheon was served, the after dinner speaker being Frederick E. W. Darrow and his topic "Stay in School—Education Pays." Mr. Darrow spoke about the significance of neither our national nor our state constitution making any provision for education, that being evidently purely a local matter, yet in a democracy where the people rule it is most necessary that the people should be educated in order to vote intelligently upon the numerous questions which are constantly being brought up for their decisions. Mr. Darrow holds, however, that education is not merely obtained in our schools, as the home plays quite as important a part. He admits that what we need most in these troublous times is patience. He does not believe in revolution in order to right present day wrongs but in evolution. We must have the patience to listen to those who do not hold the same opinions as we do, and no one should ever be criticised or condemned for expressing what he conscientiously believes.

The afternoon session started with a piano and vocal solo by local talent, after which Superintendent James of the Saugerties schools, gave the address of welcome. Mr. James stated that the home represented by the parents and the school represented by the teachers were so vitally connected with the life of the child it was difficult to determine which was the more important factor, and it was just as indispensable that a child should have an intelligent mother as intelligent teachers, as the moral and religious education which a child receives from his mother is of the most real importance in the process of his education that the highest degree that can be set before him by his teachers, and the reason many children are difficult to deal with and to teach in school is because the teacher's first teacher, his mother, has failed to properly prepare him.

Mr. James was followed by Pauline Bigelow, who spoke on "Education of Olden Times." He claimed that such men as Abraham Lincoln, George Washington and Benjamin Franklin did not need a formal education to keep them in school; they were hungry for knowledge and did not have to be persuaded to induce them to learn. It is his opinion, and he believed it all our present day institutions of learning were destroyed and all those who really wanted an education would manage to secure one. Boys desiring to be physicians would sit at the feet of such men as Dr. Chandler and hear of him to learn about nature and cultivate John Barrecher's words: "There is something to be learned from the olden times." ## ULSTER COUNTY BIBLE SOCIETY

Rev. Henry Smith, secretary of the Ulster County Bible Society, will present the work of the society at the Reformed Church, Ulster Park, N. Y., next Sunday morning at 10:30. The religious survey now being taken by the society is well under way throughout the county. Several communities have already rendered their reports, which show a greater number of families without Bibles, and a larger number of children and young people not attending Sunday school than there were twenty-five and fifty years ago.

The proceedings of the one hundredth annual meeting of the Ulster County Bible Society, together with an historical sketch of the society's work covering a period of one hundred years, has recently come from the press, and is ready for distribution. Copies will be sent to all members of the society in the near future. The work not only gives a history of the work accomplished by the society, but also a sketch of the business and religious life of the county and the entire country a century ago. It contains photo engravings of the late Rev. Dr. John Gosman, who was the leading founder of the society, and the Hon. Judge A. T. Clearwater, president at the close of the one hundred years. The secretary, Rev. Henry Smith, has spared neither time or work in compiling the production in order to make it just as complete and accurate as possible. The printing and binding were done at the office of The Kingston Freeman, and is a credit to that corporation for both neatness and binding. Copies may be secured on application to the secretary, Rev. H. Smith, Rifton, N. Y.

METTACHONTS

Mettachonts, April 15--Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wood who have spent a very pleasant and prosperous winter in the sunny southland, at Armond Beach, Florida, returned to their home in this place, one evening last week. After a short time spent here, they will leave for Lake Mohawk where they will spend the coming summer months.

Jesse Osterhout and Abram Bedesky left on Tuesday afternoon for a trip to New York city, to be gone several days. Mr. Osterhout has 22 cases of his Easter shipment of eggs lying in the strike tie up around New York. Mr. Osterhout and Mr. Bedesky made their trip by Kingston and Rhinebeck and the New York Central line.

Mrs. Samuel McNair of Millhook, who has been spending some time with her parents, has returned home. Mrs. McNair is a fine weaver of rugs and carpets and her many customers in town are glad she is back home again, and trust she will be able to continue her weaving.

Our minister, Mr. Meade, was with us on Sunday afternoon and preached an interesting sermon, having as his text, "If in this life only, we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable." In Friday's Freeman we noted the very interesting article about The good Templar Lodges of which at one time there were so many in Ulster county. There was a flourishing one at this place at that time, of which all the boys and girls in town of twenty years ago were members. Many pleasant meetings and affairs were had in those days in connection with the lodge and the men and women of today, who were the active members then cherish many happy memories of those days. It exerted a good influence on the growing boys and girls, and raised a large number of total abstainers in town, who to this day, "taste not, touch not, handle not," strong drink of any kind.

Mrs. Lloyd Snow of Kingston spent some time last week in town with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Krom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Bell spent Sunday out of town.

FOR EARLY SPRING

Newest Blouses Are Dainty and Appeal to All Women.

Delicate Pastel Shades Run Rival to Bizarre: Many Designs to Choose From.

Refreshingly dainty are the newest blouses for early spring wear to accompany the street suit. Delicate pastel shades run rival to bizarre Persian chiffon, and among materials one may allow her fancy to wander from the sheer georgette and chiffon to the more substantial, though none the less lovely, crepe meteor. The soft silk and accordion-plaited skirts of this season form the better half of a smart costume when allied with a pretty blouse.

A blouse of simple charm was recently seen fashioned of Persian chiffon in myriad colors—soft blues blending with sea green and then shot through with brilliant yellow. This clever blouse wisely chose a kimono model with short sleeves, and then, as a charming afterthought, added a handkerchief cuff reaching nearly to the wrist.

The neck was outlined with a narrow piping of satin and tiny ribbons tied the sleeves. But the bottom was perhaps the most interesting feature, for it was finished with a casing and had a ribbon drawn through, and ended in a fetching bow at the waist. Of course this lovely blouse is worn over a skirt and goes equally as well with a suit or separately with a silk skirt to form an attractive afternoon frock.

An overblouse to be smart must be simple and have good lines, that is why a blouse of georgette in an attractive goldenrod shade promises to be a leading model for spring. This blouse also favors the abbreviated sleeve, as all fashionable blouses do this season, but cleverly trims itself with jade green wool embroidery. It stitches the bottom and sleeve ends and then traces a few sprigs of flowers across the front. Around the waist there is a girle made of the green wool braided together and tasseled at the ends.

Sport outfit in striped novelty silk, with a charming plaited effect. An appropriate and beautiful model.

JERSEY SILK FOR BLOUSES

Slip-Over Garment, With Peplum, Still Smartest Vogue; Fabric Is Desirable.

Jersey cloth in silk, in one of the weaves that go by various names, is used increasingly for blouses. In spite of everything that has been predicted, the slip-over blouse, with a peplum, is still the smartest vogue. To be sure, some of the very smart new blouses reach only to the waistline, but the peplum is the rule. And it is in these blouses that jersey in silk weaver is especially desirable. For it has body enough and at the same time suppleness enough to hang well around the hips. It is often elaborately embroidered, sometimes heavily braided in soutache, sometimes worked in machine stitchery with colored wool in a way that adds distinction to many of the new blouses.

A Chemise Blouse.

A new blouse is known—described and not so simply as a chemise. The side seams are stitched up from hip to waist line and each corner of the blouse is extended in a little tab. These tabs are on each side—the blouse, drawing the edge of the blouse closely about the hips and giving a tapering line to the lower garment. One of these new blouses is of white crepe de chine with lines of white bead embroidery outlining a V neck, running out along the shoulder and down from shoulder to hand.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 16, 1920.

From London comes the report that the United States, i. e., President Wilson, has entered a "vigorous protest" against the advance of the French into German territory as a means of compelling the Germans to keep within the terms of the Versailles treaty. We have not heard that Mr. Wilson objected to the German violation of the treaty. Anyway, why should the United States concern itself about a treaty to which it is not a party and very likely never will be?

In a speech at the National Press Club some time ago, Attorney General Palmer admitted that he had advised his subordinates that prosecutions would not lie against sellers of Louisiana sugar at 18 cents, and then he remarked that immediately all sugar became Louisiana sugar in the hands of the holders. Now it develops that Cuban sugar is being brought in and refined here, and sold at the price sanctioned by Mr. Palmer and Palmer's department is evidently unable or unwilling to prosecute the profiteers. The people pay an immense sum annually for the maintenance of a department of justice that seems to be the protector of injustice. No wonder Mr. Palmer's presidential boom has fizzled out. And yet, it is hardly just to Mr. Palmer to hold him responsible. He is a member of a cabinet chosen by a president who asserts that "Nothing can be done without me," and who will have no man in his cabinet whose mind does not "run along with" his. Palmer, it must be assumed, is acting in accordance with what he believes the president wants him to do.

POET AND BARTENDER.

Poe wrote "The Raven" in a modest cottage in the Bronx, but as a show place the little house is less spectacularly interesting to the philosophic observer of human affairs than the Columbian Cafe in Greenwich avenue near Christopher street where John Masefield, the celebrated modern English bard, once labored humbly and dreamed his poet's dreams. Writing of John Masefield, "the bar boy," and the Columbian Cafe, with its "doleful sign" informing the passerby that the place is now to let, the New York Sun says:

It was just a plain, substantial bar, like those for which the old Ninth Ward was famous long before Greenwich village was turned into a proletarian imitation of the Latin Quarter. Yet it will have its commemorative tablet some day on account of the poet who made it famous. There is no doubt that John Masefield swept the floor, oiled the counter, polished the brasses and occasionally helped to keep peace in the Columbian Cafe, thereby holding body and soul together while he was turning over in his mind the plots of "The Everlasting Mercy" and "The Widow in the Bye Street." Poets have been great frequenters of inns, wayside and otherwise. But there is a vast difference between taking ones ease in such a place and making a living there by the sweat of his brow. The young seafaring man who dropped into the Columbian bar one day in search of a drink, only to find a job, was never suspected by the proprietor or the customers of being a genius. The whirligig of time again! Promptly at five minutes to one every night it used to be John Masefield's duty to turn the key in the big front door. Now the wall of song, stimulated by nothing stronger than tea, arises until morning from the fantastically named coffee house of the Bohemians that is all around.

TRAFFIC IN TITLES.

What is to be done or can be done about those hundred and more British titles of nobility that were made vacant by the cruel slaughter of the world war? It may be an unwell-considered suggestion, but if they were offered for sale to the highest bidder, would not millions in all parts of the world would promptly respond and the British government might thus largely reduce England's war debt. Antisocialists everywhere would be scandalized, but could this be considered any more objectionable than the actual traffic in titles which was reported by the House of Commons before the war? Previously observers had supposed that the explanation of the titles acquired by so many such men in England was to be found in the partially natural desire of the monarchy to win the support of the successful and powerful; but the House of Commons discussion referred to above showed that this was not the whole of the matter.

The member presenting a bill to prohibit "traffic in titles" declared that the acquisition of titles by persons with only money to recommend them was a public scandal. He said that a peerage could be had for $150,000—the sum not being paid to any individual but offered merely as a campaign contribution to the party in power. During the discussion another member of the House of Commons facetiously observed that while England had titles for sale heiresses and their fortunes could be imported from the United States—a reminder that two kinds of traffic in titles was going on. There is no difference in principle between selling new titles to rich men under cover of great campaign contributions and selling vacant titles with old estates to the same class of buyers. The latter indeed could be better defended on the ground that it would reduce the people's taxes. But undoubtedly the shock to public sentiment would be greater.

AT THE THEATRES

Good Photoplays And Vaudeville At Opera House.

Henry B. Walthall in "The Long Arm of Mannister" will be shown at Kingston Opera House tonight. This picture was to have been shown last night but owing to the railroad strike did not reach here. Also three acts of refined vaudeville which holds the boards at this popular amusement house for the last half of this week.

The vaudeville is excellent and the photoplays unusually strong dramatic productions. Keeney's theatre offers Anita Stewart in a new photoplay "Human Desire" for tonight and Saturday. It is entirely different from anything Miss Stewart has ever attempted and proves her versatility in an amazing way. It is the story of a convent girl's passion for babies which lures her away and into a serious domestic tangle with an artist's wife and makes her an innocent victim of fate. Other attractions are the Kinogram News, adventure scenes and Paramount magazine.

Mary Miles Minter in "The Intrusion of Isabella" at the Auditorium tonight will be welcomed by hundreds of her favorites. The capacity of the Auditorium is always taxed to the limit whenever this dainty star is the attraction. A Gule Henry comedy and Fox news weekly are also billed. Tomorrow, Antonio Moreno in "The Invisible Hand" also Frank Mayo in "The Peddler of Lies."

RESERVISTS MAY TAKE IN CRUISE

A very interesting summer practice cruise has been planned for the undergraduate midshipmen of the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland, and for naval reserves in civil life who volunteer for the trip.

Among the places to be visited are Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, the Panama Canal, the Hawaiian Islands, Puget Sound, Washington, and San Francisco, San Diego and San Pedro, California.

The midshipmen and the naval reserves will sail on the U. S. S. Connecticut, flagship, and the U. S. ships Kansas, Minnesota, New Hampshire, South Carolina and Michigan.

Captain John W. Timmons, U. S. navy who is in charge of naval reserve matters in the Third Naval District at the commandant's headquarters, 29th street and 3rd avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., has announced that the navy department has authorized sixteen hundred volunteers from among the enlisted personnel of the naval reserve force to take this cruise with the midshipmen, and to receive full active duty pay.

Reservists, residing in New York state, Connecticut, Vermont and in the counties of Mercer and Monmouth and all counties north thereof in New Jersey, who desire to take this cruise and who send their names to the commandant of the district will be authorized to report to the commandant on May 10th, when they will immediately be sent to Philadelphia to join their ships, the cost of transportation to be borne by the government. They will all be released again from active duty on or before September 10th next, but any reservists so desiring may remain in the navy.

The actual cruise will begin about June 5th and will end about August 28th at Annapolis.

This cruise will enable many naval reservists to take a fine sea voyage at the expense of the government and at the same time it will enable them to complete the active sea duty required in their ratings and receive two months' retention pay a year while on the inactive list of the naval reserve force. It is expected that the cruise will be very popular. It is announced that applications from reservists will be filed in the order of their receipt. Applications that arrive after the crews for the ships have been made up will have to be declined. Since there are about sixty thousand naval reservists in the district it is feared that many will be disappointed. Those who are interested in the naval reserve force are very enthusiastic about this unusual cruise—one which comparatively few people ever get in so short a time.

Private Not Always Catholic.

From the very beginning of the Catholic church it was the custom for those entering the priesthood to renounce marriage. It was not obligatory, and the rule requiring men, who were already married at the time of ordination, to separate from their wives, was not made until the end of the fourth century, when Pope Sirice forbade the clergy to marry, and ordered the separation from their wives of priests already married. This accounts for the fact that St. Peter, the first head of the Catholic church, was a married man.

When Born of Self-Deception.

It's a common thing for "converted" folks to get a devoted idea of the system in which they are held. They would have you draw them across the martyrs and start persecutions to have them released to their bondage. What does it all mean? You may find some dry sticks that get converted of your stuff and count it real. There are, too, some who seem and to have the power to give folks just what they need. They don't want to be on the one hand and to be on the other. But that's only a common thing. It's only the only the world that one

EBERT FACING GRAVE PROBLEMS

Telegraph to The Freeman.
The Hague, April 16.—There are indications that the new threatened military coup in Germany will be postponed indefinitely as a result of the discovery of the plot by the government, said advices from German sources today. However, while the government has come into possession of definite information regarding the conspiracy, President Ebert and his ministry is faced with a critical situation. The right and left parties in the German national assembly have adopted an uncompromising attitude and the view is taken in official circles that civil war seems inevitable unless the government acts quickly and strongly.

The communists in Saxony are pressing their demands for disarmament of the government troops, while the workers in the Ruhr district are hiding arms and ammunition for "future reference."

The German government is nervous over the financial situation as well as the political unrest. The bonded debt of Germany is now estimated at 92,000,000,000 marks by the ministry of finance.

A PIPE DREAM OF PEQUOTT HOLLOW

From the city's seething smother
I trend my weary way
To the fire-side—and mother;
At the close of each long day.
After all the other members
Find the time for sleep is ripe,
Then I watch the dying embers
Through the smoke-screen from my pipe.

There comes the dreamy vision
Of far off mountain sides:
A mysterious dervish—
As so temptingly it chides.
The sun had crossed the apex
Of a perfect summer's day
And wandered on its convex
Course, horizon-ward. A ray
Of light kaleidoscopic

Softly played upon the pool
With a warmth almost semi-tropic;
Yet the woods were dark and cool.
The quiet was unbroken—
Save for nature's lingling life.
Where the tales are'er unspoken
Of her thrills, her joys and affits.

A dreamer and a lover
Of the mountain and the dale,
Was the tramping 'neath the cover
Of the Pequott Hollow trail.
Each step with stealthy tread he took
And cast his line far out
To lure the quarry from its rook—
The spotted mountain trout
For the trail which he descended
Was the center of the stream
With the tree tops overhead blended
Like the portals to a dream.

Now the trout were mighty scary,
Swift as lightning—that's their fame;
But the man was very wary,
For he beat them at their game.

To some deeply shadowed shelter
'Neath an overhanging root
They would scatter, helter skelter,
From the ripple of his boot
Then swirling in a tumble
O'er a rocky ledge, the bait
Was snatched—a writhing jumble—
By the one that lay in wait.

A jerk, and then a tangle
And a flash above the stream
Perhaps a moment's bustle
On the bank. The thrill supreme!

But the day had passed the noon-hour
And the fisherman must rest,
To have a bite of grub to eat,
So he crawled on his quest.

Ere proceeding on a boulder,
Just above the water's hiss,
And watched the hazy smoulder,
From his pipe, in silent bliss.

Then he listened to the humming
Of the insects in the grass
And the started at the drumming
Of a partridge—but alas—
'Twas the pipe that I am smoking.
The fisherman was I
And so those darned provoking
Reminiscences pass by!

L'envoy!
I have a funny feelin'
When I shed this mortal veil
That you'll find my spirit stealin'
Down the Pequott Hollow trail.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, April 15.—The Rev. J. J. Lyons came down from Kingston, where he was attending the New York conference, on Saturday last, for the purpose of visiting among his former parishioners. He remained over until Sunday noon, then had to return in order to be at the ordination service in the afternoon, where he was ordained deacon.

Elmer Lund and Darius Wagar went to Larchmont last week, where they have good positions as carpenters. Mr. Lund will board with his mother, Mrs. Helen Lund.

The Rev. William Austin, a former pastor of the Methodist Church in this village, was among the number of candidates who were ordained as deacons last Sunday afternoon in Trinity Methodist Church, Kingston. The Rev. Austin and family spent "conference week" in Esopus and returned to Kenoza Lake today. Their new appointment is Downsville and congratulations are in order as it is still a better charge than the one they are leaving.

On April 3, the remains of Herbert Rudolph, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lund, were brought from the vault in Kingston and interred in Ascension cemetery, West Park.

CHICHESTER.

Chichester, April 15.—On Monday afternoon Lynn Sunricker cut and lacerated all of the fingers of his right hand on a rip saw in the factory here. Andrew DuBois has returned from visiting relatives at Johnson City. Mrs. DuBois has not yet returned.

Theron and Henry Hamilton of Walden have been employed by the wood working company of this place.

The Loyal Legion will have charge of an entertainment to be held at the hall in Phoenixia on Monday night. The Loyal Legion has secured New York talent for that evening.

Daniel Zimmerman and Loren Grant are working for Degnon Company at Shandaken.

The house that E. G. Bennett is constructing is nearing completion.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Schwarzwalder attended the dance held at Degnon Company's Hall in Shandaken on Wednesday evening.

NEW HURLEY.

New Hurley, April 15.—Mildred Burdell of New York, N. Y., was a recent visitor in this place.

The Young Sunday school opened on Sunday after being closed during the winter months.

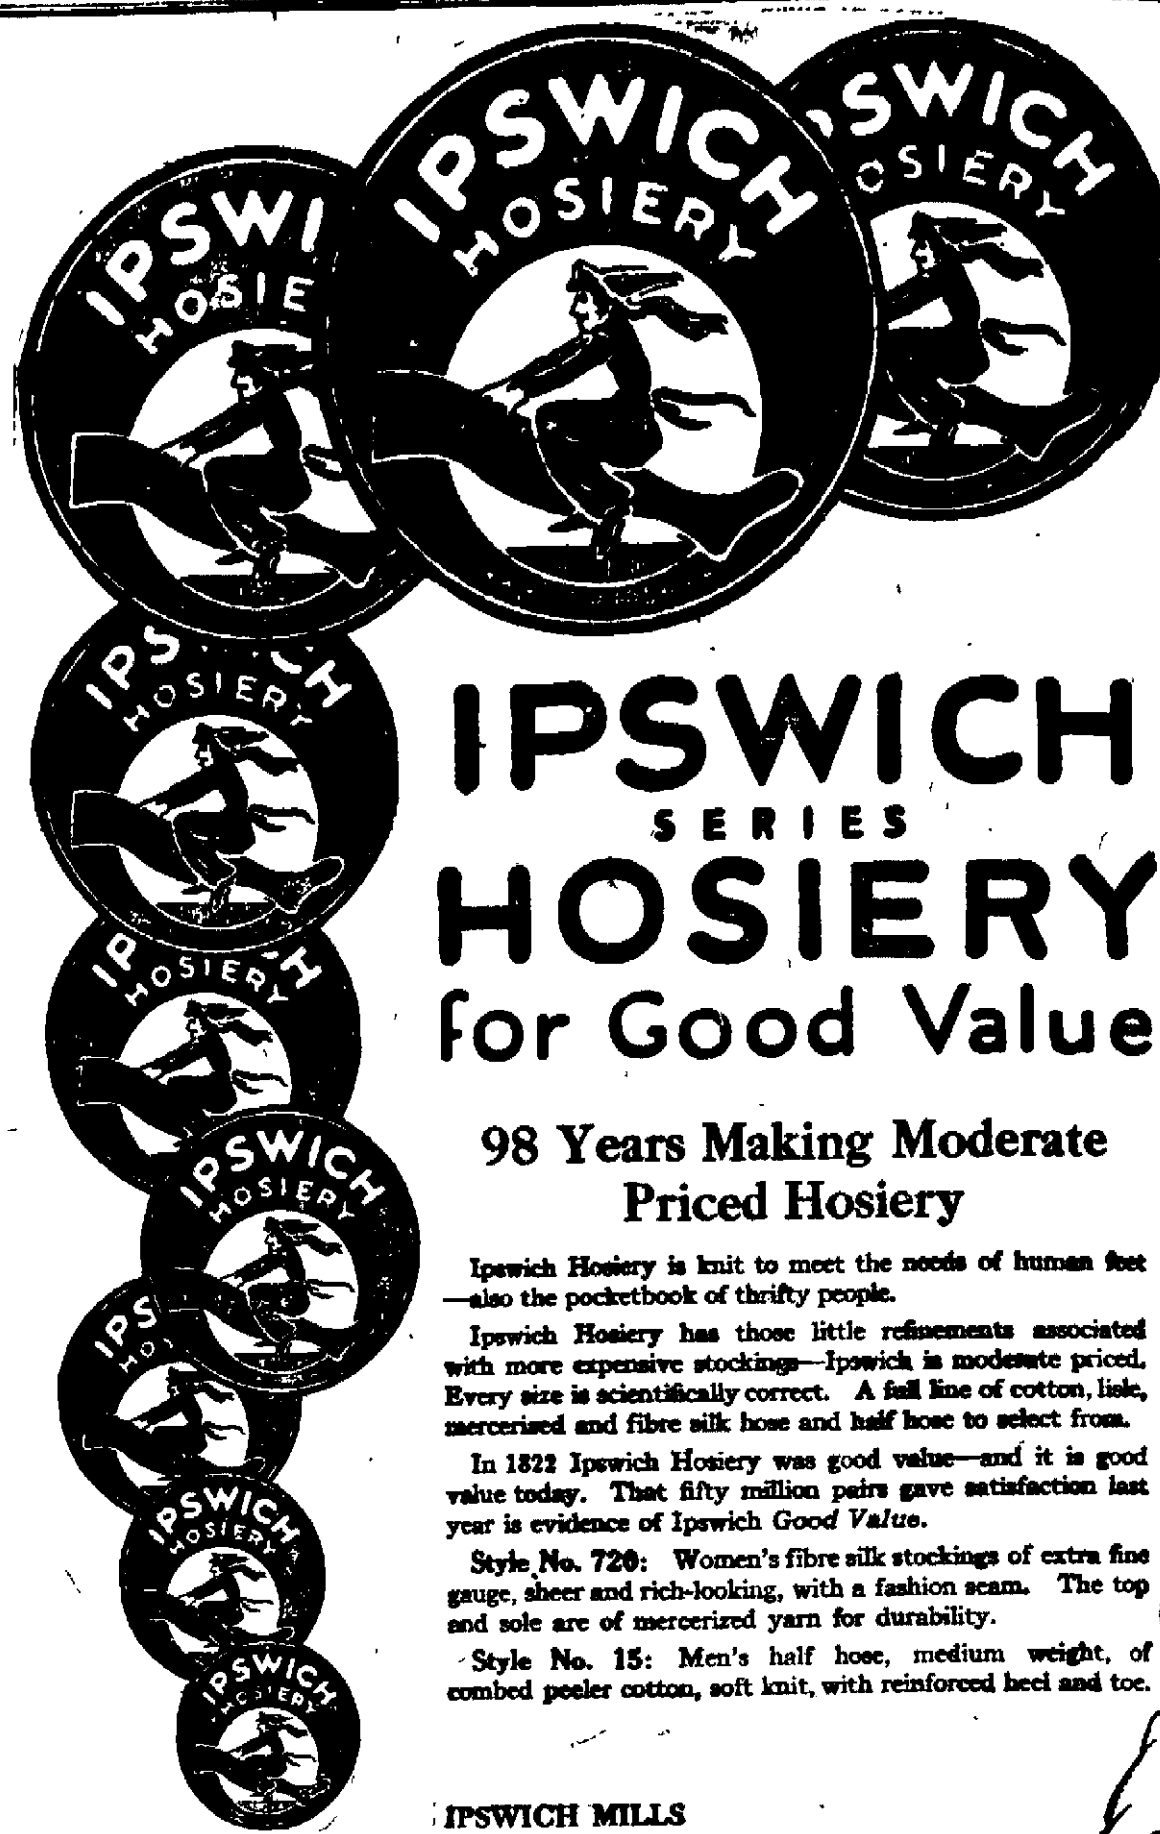

Mrs. Charles G. Shay visited her sister, Mrs. Catharine Traphagen, in Newburgh last Thursday.

A missionary collection was taken in the church on Easter Sunday amounting to over $90.

Miss Anna Sell, who has a position in New York, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sell, recently.

Court of Lions.

The Court of Lions is the most famous court of the Americas, in Spain. It takes its name from 12 white marble lions from whose mouths streams of water flowed into a central subterranean basin.

HOSPITAL PATIENT KILLS ANOTHER

Edward Martin, twenty-six years old, an inmate of the Hudson River state hospital, at Poughkeepsie died, Thursday, from the effects of blows administered late Wednesday by James Doyle, sixty years old, another inmate. An iron floor polisher was used in the killing. Doyle took the precaution to lock the door against intruders while he was engaged in the work. Martin had playfully dipped some of Doyle's clothing in water, thus irritating him. An attendant tried in vain to break in the door to save Martin. The latter's skull was fractured in several places. Doyle will be sent to the Matteawan hospital for the criminal insane.

VIOLENT FIGHTING IN SIBERIA

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, April 16.—In a violent battle at Habarovsk, 237 Japanese soldiers and 400 Russians were killed, said a Central News dispatch from Tokio today. Fifteen hundred Russians were made prisoners by the Japanese.

Habarovsk, or Khabarovsk, is an important Siberian city a little more than 300 miles north of Vladivostok. It lies on the Ussuri branch of the Trans-Siberian Railroad. Its population is 16,000 and it is a large trading center.

ENGLISH LIVING COST.

Americans May Find Comfort in Their Cousins' Plight.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, April 15.—The cost of living in England has trebled since 1914 according to the Statistic, which has made a special study of this condition. Its statement is based on 45 basic commodities.

The Labor Gazette, whose figures deal only with the manual working classes and whose basis comprise the pre-war level, presents statistics to show that the cost of living in England is nearly forty per cent higher than in America.

According to the Labor Gazette, the workman's cost of living has advanced 22 per cent, since July, 1919, while America's has gone up but seven points.

WRESTLERS READY.

Body Scissors or Headlock to Decide Championship.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, April 16.—Joe Stecher and Ed. (Strangler) Lewis are ready for their finish wrestling match here tonight for the world's title.

The champion and his rival wrestled five hours to a draw when they last met and a great match is expected tonight, when one fall is to decide the victor.

Stecher, who has been doing his training in actual wrestling bouts in nearby cities, will depend largely on the body scissors to win for him. Lewis will attempt to win with his painful headlock.

Jay Gould.

Jay Gould decisively defeated S. Soden Canning in defending his title in the challenge round of the national court tennis championship tournament in New York. In winning, Gould assumed the American title for the twelfth year. Only two Americans have beaten the champion since he made his spectacular event in court tennis in 1906; Charles E. Soden, then American champion, put Gould out of the play for the Tuxedo gold racket, and Wallace H. Miller beat him in the challenge round for the British championships, both falling in the same year. Cutting fell a victim to the superior game played by Gould, who was never forced to extend himself. The scores were 6-2, 6-4, 6-1.

Put a church in a town and it becomes at once a center of inspiration for better schools, better politics and general community improvement.

Put a church in a town and you insure a community where law and order reign, where the personal and property rights of men and women are respected, where children grow up trained in the ideals that have made America great.

Kill the church and you cut the nerve of your hospitals, your colleges, your civic organizations and even of respect for government itself.

ARE STRONG FOR SALVATION ARMY

Working Man Explains That First Letter Was Written Before Captain Young Decided To Join Community Chest—Mayor Best City Ever Had But Don't Get Workers' Point Of View.

Editor Freeman:

May I be allowed to say a few words in reply to the Mayor's letter of the 12th regarding Salvation Army Chest. My letter was written after Captain Young had stated in The Freeman the Army intended having its own drive, and before his later letter saying he had decided to join the Community Chest owing to the Army's need for present maintenance and leave the building fund until later in the year. I would not have written had I known his intentions as I think too highly of the Salvation Army work to do anything that would militate against it, in fact I have seriously thought I should not say anything further for fear I may do harm where my intentions are only for good, but the Mayor has said a few things that I could hardly allow to go unanswered. He states first that I am entirely at error in my recollections, that the Army made no application or request to be included until the War Chest had been in operation for five months and when the Chest was organized no one even hinted publicly that it should be included, therefore there was not and could not have been any hard feelings. My recollections may be entirely wrong as the Mayor says, but I know at that time there were no officers in Kingston to make application to be included in the chest, whether the officers were helping in their National Campaign, or taking the places of officers sent abroad. I do not know. I called the barracks up quite a few times but could get no answer, until one day, a sister, I suppose, told me the Captain was expected the following week. During these months, the Salvation Army making history for themselves, which will not be forgotten for a long time, and if no one thought of including them in the Chest here while they were having a drive to help the boys over the water, then more is the pity. I know when Captain came he was to The Freeman, explaining the Army's position and again I say despite what the Mayor says there was a lot of harm done and hard feelings caused because the Army was not included in the chest. Of course, I understand that Mayor Canfield is right in saying there was no hard feeling caused just the same as I am right in saying there was hard feeling caused; that is only the result of environment, we both speak as we know. My experience, as I said, before, was among the workers, but because the Mayor did not know of this hard feeling surely does not warrant him in saying it was not so. The proof lies in how the war chest fell off. He says the drive was not a failure. That is a word he introduces. I did not say it was a failure, but mentioned how it fell down after Kingston had gone over the top in everything undertaken, surely a distinction between falling down and a failure. The drive was not a failure. He is quite right in one way, that the local organizations received their full quota. Also the United War Fund received its part asked for, but the other side of the picture is that over $200,000 was pledged and only half of that was paid in; that an effort was made to quicken up the payments in industrial plants, which was not very successful. To use the Mayor's own words, outside of certain plants it was very successful. Now surely that is saying a lot. If certain plants would not keep up their payments and the chest finishes up over $100,000 short of the amount pledged I fail to see looking at it in that light, how the Mayor can call it a success. Mayor Canfield in the latter part of his letter brings up a different subject altogether. The point was about hard feelings being caused among workers—people through the war chest, and the Army. Of course, different people will have different ways of looking at it. Every one has a right to their opinion, but he brings up a subject on which we are both of the same mind about the speakers and collectors in the drive. He seems to think I cannot realize what a lot of self sacrifice they showed in giving their time and money so ungrudgingly to the different calls made on them. Let me assure him I do realize, and have a great respect for them. I did mention in my letter Mr. DeWitt and Mr. Dittus, but not to disparage them or speak slightly of them in any way, and I do not think they looked at things in the same light as the Mayor appears to do. I do not want to say anything against the community chest, and so in its interest I shall not say anything further, but hope that Mayor Canfield will be able to see things as they appear to other people. He may think I am trying to knock him, but nothing is further from my thoughts; in fact, I believe, and have said many times, I believe he is the best Mayor Kingston ever had and the city should be proud of him. Again allow me to sign myself, A WORKING MAN.

WILL SIDETRACK LEAGUE INQUIRY

Anderson Contempt Charge Likely to Fall Flat Too, Despite His Efforts to Goad Assembly—Brackett Defies Makes Light of All Charges.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, April 15.—The long conflict in the legislature between the wets and the dries entered yesterday its final stage. The Judiciary committee of the assembly indicated clearly it proposed to sidetrack the investigation of the Anti-Saloon League and the contempt proceedings against William H. Anderson, Col. Ransom H. Gillett, Republican however, gave notice he would move next Monday to rescue his beer and light wine bill.

Indications are that nothing whatever will be done in relation to either phase of the prohibition controversy. After receiving a long brief from Edgar T. Brackett, counsel for Anderson, defending the action of the leader of the dries, the Judiciary committee decided to postpone action on its proposed inquiry.

At the same time members of the committee stated they fully agreed with Mr. Brackett's contention that the assembly has no authority to try the Anderson for contempt. Not only does Mr. Brackett make light of the assembly's contempt action, but he apparently seeks to taunt the committee into forcing the inquiry. Anderson is defiant. He demands the hearing. He and his associates evidently are fearful the assembly will back down, and are doing all in their power to keep the issue alive.

Having made a careful canvass of the assembly, Col. Gillett said he still was convinced his light beer bill could be passed in that body. The measure provides for sale of 2.75 per cent beer for consumption only in the home. His intention is to try to force through the measure, the counsel said, leaving it to the senate, doorstop. Although Gillett appeared, the general view is not as doorstop. Although Gillett appeared Sweet against any moderate drink legislation and in full control of the assembly situation, through the medium of the rules committee, which he dominates.

In the brief filed with the assembly on behalf of Mr. Anderson, Mr. Brackett takes the stand that criticism of members of the assembly as individuals does not constitute contempt of the entire body.

While Anderson's utterances may have been irritating to certain members of the assembly, he was entirely within his rights as a citizen in declaring his opinion of the acts of public officials, and nothing has been shown that constitutes contempt of the legislature or its members," the brief states.

Assemblyman Cuvillier's contempt charges are described in the Brackett brief as "moot eaten error" copied from antiquated text books, and adds that there is nothing in the Anderson statement, calling service men tools of the brewers, "that could be tortured into an excuse for contempt charges." The statement has no specific intimation, the defence asserts.

The Anderson statement that it "Cuvillier allowed his hair to grow he would impersonate the Missing Link without makeup," the brief states to have been merely "an opinion as to the assemblyman's pulchritude," and added:

"Anderson has declared frankly that if Cuvillier complies with the conditions precedent and the judgment of a competent jury is not in accord with his expressed opinion he will make due and humble apology to Cuvillier."

Denying the authority of the legislature to proceed, the brief states that if either Cuvillier or Col. Gillett believes he has been libelled by Anderson his remedy is in the courts.

NO APPLICATIONS NO EXAMINATION

The local civil service board has called off the examination that was scheduled to be held this evening to make up an eligible list from which the police board could make an appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of James V. Connolly who is now in Detroit. The reason for calling off the examination is the fact that no one has applied to the board to take the examination. This is the first in a number of years where the board has been unable to hold an examination on that account.

Ex-Empress of Germany

The former Empress of Germany is seriously ill at her retreat in Holland and her death is expected shortly, according to a dispatch from Berlin. The former Empress Augusta Victoria was the eldest daughter of Frederick, Duke of Schleswig-Holstein. She was born in 1858, and is in her 62nd year. She became the bride of Wilhelm in 1881, when she was 23 and he one year her junior. The couple have seven children, six sons and one daughter. She has long been a sufferer from heart disease.

On Literary Style

No man can be supremely eloquent in laconics. You cannot express the rising and the expanding and the sweep and the circling of eloquent feeling in a style resembling that which seamen call a "chopping sea." For such thinking you must have at command a style of which an oceanic ground swell or the Gothic interweaving of forest trees is the more becoming symbol. In the construction of such a style, you must use connective words, links elaborately forged, inserted in the right joints of style, to make them flexible without loss of compactness. One word of such exact connective force in the right place, with the right surroundings before and after, may make all the difference between the disjointed and the linked style.—Austin Phelps.

Checkers Older Than Chess?

Chess players are privileged to call the checkerboard a chessboard, but the defender of checkers insists that it is a much older game than chess and that the board therefore is fundamentally a checkerboard. F. W. Young observes in the Providence Journal. He cites authority to prove his point and declares that research indicates that checkers had its origin among the Romans about 300 B. C. and that the game of chess was not devised until about 500 years later. He says that inscriptions on Egyptian monuments give checkers a much greater antiquity than chess, and he quotes a now obsolete cyclopedia which says: "The game is supposed to have originated 2,000 years B. C. and to have preceded chess."

Butter Industry Important

Butter forms an important product in America, where creameries have largely supplanted small farm dairies. An scientific study has demonstrated the fact that cream should be carefully treated in order to develop the proper amount of lactic acid and to culture the right kind of germs necessary to good butter. The cream, skimmed from fresh milk and permitted to "ripen" for a few days usually, is churned in large machines. The agitation causes the separation of the butter fat from the water substance in the cream and the coagulation of churning breaks the outer skin of the butter globules, enabling them to adhere closely together instead of floating about.

Robert Louis Stevenson's "Moose"

How many are aware of the fact that Robert Louis Stevenson, at the age of six, wrote a life, illustrated, of Moses? Sir Graham Bell's biography verifies the general impression that the great novelist began writing at the earliest possible period of his boyhood. The pictures that accompany the story, according to Mr. Edmund Gosse, who has seen a copy, are even more exhilarating than the written text. Thus the colored frontispiece of the departure of the Israelites from Egypt shows all of them reaching top hats and several smoking pipes. Here the steersman are depicted why their descendants stick to the dark custom of cylindrical civilization even on the famous Bright-line beach in the old country.

WHEN EGGS ARE PLENTIFUL

Eggs may be baked in peppers, small tomatoes, in potatoes, as well as in various combinations. Baked or Shired Eggs.—Butter an egg shirrer or, a ramekin, cover the sides and bottom with fine cracker crumbs. Break an egg into a cup and carefully slip it into the shirrer. Cover with seasoned buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until the white is firm and the crumbs are brown. Place the ramekins or shirrers on a plate so that they may be easily removed from the oven. Another way of baking eggs is to place them in the individual dishes, add a spoonful of cream, then cover with buttered crumbs.

Eggs Omelette.—Wash and bake six large potatoes, cut a slice from each and scoop out the inside and mash. To three cups of the mashed potato add six tablespoons of chopped ham, two tablespoons of chopped parsley, the whites of two eggs well beaten, three tablespoons of butter, four tablespoons of cream and salt and pepper. Line the potato shells with the mixture, place in each cavity a poached egg, cover with the potato mixture and bake until browned. The eggs should be very lightly cooked before dropping them into the potato.

Salute Eggs.—Heat a small omelet pan, put in a tablespoonful of butter, and when melted add one-half cupful of cream. Slip in four eggs carefully, sprinkle with salt, pepper and a few grains of cayenne. When the whites are nearly firm sprinkle with cheese. Finish cooking and serve on buttered toast. Strain the cream over the toast.

Eggs a la Comodoro.—Cut slices of bread in circular pieces and saute in butter. Remove a portion of the center, cutting with a cookie cutter, leaving a rim one-fourth inch wide. Spread this cavity with finely minced cooked liver, seasoned and pounded to a paste. Place a poached egg in each and pour over a rich brown sauce to which has been added a few drops of vinegar.

My daughter, in company with another girl, went to the grocery store to get some grapes. The other girl asked for a nickel's worth, and when the grocer handed them to her my little girl asked for a cent's worth. The grocer said: "Ruth, I don't sell a penny's worth of grapes." Ruth said: "You will sell six cents' worth, won't you?" The grocer said yes, then Ruth said: "Well, then put a penny's worth in that bag." The grocer laughed and gave her the grapes.—Chicago Tribune.

One Millionth of an Inch

Steel gauges accurate to the incredible thousandth of a millionth part of an inch are now being made in quantities at the United States bureau of standards. So extraordinarily precise is the method of manufacture, simple as it is, that in one instance 31 finished gauges out of a lot of 33 were absolutely accurate to .000001 inches, and the balance all within .000002 inches of precision, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The gauges are steel disks.

WHY DRUGGISTS DIE YOUNG

Customers Like This Very Particular Lady Must Be Great Strain on the Nerve.

The drug store was filled with worried looks—prescription faces. All were eager for quick action and the druggist was doing his best to meet all the demands. A woman the only one without a prescription in her hand, shifted back and forth until she got directly in the path of the druggist.

"Wait on me, please," she said snappily. "I'm in a hurry."
"What did you wish?"
"Some birdseed—canary bird. And I want the real stuff, none of this camouflaged birdseed—and cornmeal, sawdust and a lot of other stuff."

"But, lady, we—"
"Oh, you can't fool me. I've been reading up on this birdseed graft. I read in a magazine where they were jamming all sorts of junk into this stuff were feeding our poor little canaries. Think of cheating a poor little canary."

"But, lady, you don't understand—"
"Oh, yes, I do understand. I want birdseed that has a glare on it—the kind that shows it is fresh by its bright color. I don't want this gritty stuff. I know what I'm talking about. I've been reading up and—"

"How much did you want, lady?"
"Oh, about a nickel's worth."
And the poor, unhappy prescription-eaters fell in a faint.—Indianapolis News.

DON'T NEED SCENT

Why Perfumes Are Not Over-Popular in America.

Writer Sees Cause for Congratulation in the Fact That Heavy Artificial Odors Are Not Needed Here, as in Europe.

That the sense of smell is sadly neglected is an opinion expressed every once in a while by those who pride themselves on a highly cultivated olfactory faculty. Just the other day a perfumer complained about the lack of appreciation of the pleasures of smell, especially among Americans.

Well, for our own part, we are glad that Americans are lacking in the cultivation of this most neglected of the senses. We are especially thankful that the men of our race and country almost entirely neglect the use of perfumes.

The perfumer who is making the complaint points out the fact that, while we cultivate the sense of sound, touch, taste, to a certain degree, and the sense of sight, we leave that of smelling practically uncultivated. Well, there is this difference—that the man or woman who indulges her appreciation of odors by wearing perfumes necessarily inflicts these odors on all who come near her. Even the woman who wears bright and clashing colors does not do this, for we can look away—but there is no way of avoiding a perfume. While we breathe we have to use our smelling facilities.

Can't you recall how often your pleasure at the theater and your powers of concentration at church or the lecture have been well nigh destroyed simply because of a nearby perfume? No matter how artistic the perfume may be, if it is kept in a close audience or near to you for long at a time it is sure to become annoying, not to say really sickening.

As a matter of fact one reason why we Americans go in so little for perfumes is because we are of all nations the most free from unpleasant odors. Our cities, our houses, our theaters are sweet to the nostrils compared to the cities and public places of Europe. In Italy, where no one can visit Venice or Florence without being shocked by the smells of the city, one finds a high appreciation of perfumes.

In the Orient, where the faculty of smelling is developed to a fine art, the impression of the city odors is something that the occidental traveler never forgets. The characteristic odors of Bombay, of Calcutta, of Constantinople and Hong Kong, made up of a marvelous complex of mistakes of sanitation, something that the traveler cannot describe, but the recollection of it is unpleasantly vivid all his life.

For our own part we like the American way best. The most desirable fragrance that we can find in our cities, in our drawing rooms or theaters, is the fragrance of fresh air, air so free that it is sweet to the nostrils.

And what can compare with the smells of the country? The pine tree, the fresh-mown hay, the hillside after a storm, the breezes that blow over 3,000 miles of ocean, the apple orchard and the grape arbor? These are the smells that the Americans appreciate and love.—Buffalo Express.

Early Booksellers.

The first bookseller's catalogue in the English language, so far as is known, is one bearing a date of 323 years ago. It was issued by Andrew Haunsell of Lothbury, England, and contains an elaborate dedication to Queen Elizabeth. The first booksellers in England were migratory peddlers, who carried their small stock on their backs, and thus may more properly be called pioneer book agents.

In the course of time some of the more prosperous hawkers of literature set up small stalls or booths and thus became known as "stationers." This is the origin of the word stationer, now generally applied to dealers in "stationery," which has come to mean writing materials, paper, pens, ink and similar articles. Booksellers in England were for centuries treated as near-criminals and subjected to many restrictions, which were not wholly removed until 1758. The booksellers of both England and America now have powerful associations, the former dating from 1533.

Alma.

Four-year-old John was visiting his auntie. Now, he had not intended staying so long and had not brought an entire change of clothing. So he was much distressed about not being clean.

The afternoon before his uncle was to take him home auntie took him to the first vaudeville show he had ever visited. And the comments he made were loud and amusing to the members of the audience around him. But nothing exactly startling was said until a young woman in black tights came on the stage to do some acrobatic stunts. Then his clear little voice called out so that most of the people there heard him. "Oh, auntie, she has on a dirty white suit too."

Another Cruise of the Carnegie.

The magnetic survey yacht, Carnegie, after lying out of commission at Washington for a year, was fitted out at the end of September for a new cruise (her sixth), to cover a period of two or three years. Her route this time will be mainly in the South Atlantic, Indian and Pacific oceans, the parts of it for the year being Dakar, Rio de Janeiro and St. Helena. J. P. Ault is in command.—Scientific American.

Black Goats in America.

Six thousand goats are listed in the American white goat registry. Three breeds are recognized. The Toggenburgs were originally imported from the valley of that name in Switzerland. They are distinguished by exact brown and white markings, especially about the head. Saanen goats had from the Swiss valley, Switzerland, and are pure white. The Anglo-Nubian goats are a cross between the common English goat and the Nubians of Africa. They are a spotted variety and vary in color.

Funeral services were held at the home of his parents on Wednesday afternoon, April 14, at 2. Interment at Woodstock.

Mrs. Margaret F. Molloy, beloved wife of William F. Molloy, died at her residence, 283 East Union street, Wednesday, April 14. The funeral will be held from the residence Saturday morning at 8:30, and from St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Molloy is survived by her husband, one son, Girard, and one nephew, Frank, and two nieces, Geraldine and Irene, all three of whom she had been a mother to since Irene was six weeks old.

The last rites were performed over the remains of Edward W. Matheson, veteran of the civil war, at the family residence, 31 Crown street, Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. The Rev. A. H. Haynes, chaplain of Pratt Post, No. 127, G. A. R., of which Mr. Matheson had for a number of years been quartermaster, officiated and spoke in high terms of praise of the excellent character of Mr. Matheson as a citizen of Kingston for over half a century, and of his service during the war of the rebellion. The casket was draped in the American flag on top of which was a large carried during the 60's by deceased then a young man and a patriot. A number of the surviving comrades of the civil war, members of Pratt Post, were at the services, as were a score of fellow townsmen who had known deceased during his life here and had honored him as a good citizen and friend. The remains were taken to Wilkesbury cemetery by automobile cortege, where at the grave services were held according to the G. A. R. ritual, before interment.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

MR. MOUFLOU'S QUESTIONS.

"Mrs. Moufou, do you love me?" asked Mr. Moufou.

"The Moufou family are wild sheep, you know, and they come from Scandinavia."

"I do," said Mrs. Moufou. "Yes, I do. Yes, I do."

"That's good," said Mr. Moufou. "Well, do you care for me as much on the rainy days as you do on the sunny ones?"

"Of course, I do; of course," said Mrs. Moufou.

"And you always like to see me eat fine meals and grow more handsome?" asked Mr. Moufou.

"Oh, yes, I love to see you eat fine meals and grow more handsome," repeated Mrs. Moufou.

"Do you think I am growing more handsome all the time?" he asked.

"Now really, now really, Mr. Moufou,"

"Oh, Mrs. Moufou, pray answer my question. If you give the right answer it will make me so happy. So happy."

"Then, if you know the right answer, why do you ask it?" asked Mrs. Moufou, smiling.

"I know what I hope you'll answer. 'Oh, then you aren't sure?'"

"Not quite," said Mrs. Moufou, "but I've great and high hope. Yes, my hopes are very high."

"Well, what was the question again?" asked Mrs. Moufou.

"I asked you, my dear, if you thought I was growing more handsome all the time."

"I do, indeed," said Mrs. Moufou. "You're a very handsome animal!"

"And you don't think I'm looking any less well than I did at home?"

"You're still your handsome self," said Mrs. Moufou.

"Oh, those words from your dear mouth make me so joyous," said Mr. Moufou.

"And you think the keeper of the zoo and the different keepers of all the different animals—do you think they admire me?"

"Oh, yes."

"Especially our own keeper?"

"Most assuredly, most certainly I do."

"That's nice," said Mr. Moufou. "And I like to hear you use lots of words on this subject."

"Do you think, dear Mrs. Moufou, that you care for me as much now as you did when we were free and in our mountain homes?"

"Yes, indeed, I do," said Mrs. Moufou. "I like you just as well."

"Don't you think, maybe, you like me a little better all the time?" asked Mr. Moufou.

"I think, maybe, I do," replied Mrs. Moufou.

"Aren't you sure of it?" asked Mr. Moufou.

"I'm sure of it," said Mrs. Moufou. "Then, please, say so," begged Mr. Moufou. "It sounds so much better."

"But I answered your question as you asked it," said Mrs. Moufou. "But I wanted to have you say more nice things about me than I could in modesty ask."

"Oh, dear," said Mrs. Moufou, trying to hide a smile.

"Do you think I have handsome coloring?" asked Mr. Moufou.

"I most certainly do," said Mrs. Moufou.

"And do you think I am a nice, friendly, sociable, pleasant old moufou?"

"Yes, I do," said Mrs. Moufou. "And the keeper says you're as friendly as a friendly can be."

Mr. Moufou smiled. He was much pleased.

"And you don't think I'm concealed, do you?" he asked.

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Moufou, smiling to herself, and thinking: "Perhaps you're not concealed, but, oh, how you love to be admired and spoiled!"

Way to Success.

When you wonder whether you are going to succeed or not, you have placed a barrier in the way of your success. Sweep the life out of the way. If you are ready to do your part, you have a perfect right to take success for granted. Every "if" weakens the faith in yourself which makes achievement possible.—Girls' Companion.

Human Cipher.

Zero is like a duck: it amounts to nothing, but makes a man clever when he sees it.—Boston Transcript.

Good for the Owl.

An owl always saw an owl swat the field after, one after another, and at the expiration of four hours it remained four more miles. The farmer should take notice of these facts, for he can well spare a chicken now and then for the services thus rendered.—Exchange.

Roving Tribes of Kurdish Brigands Form 'Monarchy' with Turk as King

MOUNTAIN tribes of Turkestan which have harassed travel in their part of the world for hundreds of years have recently been brought together by Enver Pasha, the former Turkish war lord, who has proclaimed himself king of the Kurds.

The organization of these tribes under the enterprising Turk will, for the first time, give America's Protestant churches, it is hoped, the means of introducing these tribes into the world of civilization. Through the Interchurch World Movement the evangelical churches of the United States plan to establish churches, hospitals and schools among these people, in an effort to put them in touch with western ideas and ideals.

As Enver Pasha has proclaimed himself president of Azerbaijan, the Mohammedan republic, which was recently formed in the Caucasus. A coalition of these two non-Christian states would mean a serious blow to the business and social welfare of Russia and the Near East.
